HIV/AIDS BASIC INFORMATION

What is HIV?

HIV is the Human Immunodeficiency Virus. It attacks your body's ability to fight illness and weakens your immune system.

HIV is spread through contact with 4 bodily fluids: blood, semen, vaginal fluids and breast milk. There are 3 ways that HIV can be transmitted: blood-to-blood contact (such as sharing a needle with someone who is HIV positive); unprotected sex (oral, anal or vaginal) with a person who is HIV positive; and from mother to child (before or during birth or from breast-feeding). HIV is not spread through casual contact like hugging, shaking hands, sitting next to someone, sharing meals, using telephones or by being bitten by an insect.

HIV disease can progress to AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) when your immune system is seriously damaged. With early diagnosis of HIV and participation in medical treatment, however, it is possible to prevent AIDS.

How does HIV work? – The 4 Stages:

Stage 1: In the first stage, HIV infection is recent and usually occurs 2 to 8 weeks after the virus has been introduced to the body. During this time, a person may feel like they have the flu. The immune system is still able to fight back and symptoms may only last a few days up to 2 weeks.

Stage 2: In this stage, a person may look and feel perfectly healthy. Symptoms may not exist for another 8 to 10 years in some cases. However, the virus is still at work and damaging the immune system.

Stage 3: In Stage 3, a person begins experiencing symptoms that may include fever, night sweats, swollen lymph glands in the neck, underarm or groin area, upper respiratory infections, fatigue, diarrhea, rapid weight loss, decreased appetite, vaginal or oral yeast infections, white spots in the mouth or rashes. HIV can also cause damage to a person's nervous system, making them forget things easily and/or become confused. These symptoms are persistent and may last anywhere from several weeks up to several years. If you are experiencing any of these symptoms for more than a week, you should see a healthcare provider. While these may be signs of other illnesses, it is very important to seek medical advice.

Stage 4: In the final stage, HIV has severely damaged the immune system, leaving a person's body vulnerable to infection and disease. AIDS has now fully developed. In some cases, this does not occur for more than 10 years after infection, especially with the help of treatment. It is also important that a person's AIDS status be diagnosed and confirmed by a medical professional. With the body weakened by AIDS, other infections such as tuberculosis (TB), invasive cervical cancer, JVC (AIDS-related pneumonia formerly called PCP), wasting syndrome, candida/thrush, CMV retinitis, Kaposi's sarcoma and toxoplasmosis can simultaneously occur.

About Treatment:

An early HIV diagnosis and steady treatment can help a person live a full, active life. It is important that you see your physician when you are scheduled to and follow your treatment plan consistently. Currently, there is no cure for HIV infection or for AIDS. But new treatments are working to battle the virus and prolong the lives of those infected. Talk to your HIV Health Care Provider to learn more and decide what's best for you.

Know the Risks/ Prevent the Disease:

HIV affects all walks of life; anyone can get it. Of course, some forms of behavior are riskier than others. That's why it is important to know the risks as well as the ways to prevent HIV. The safest ways to prevent HIV are abstinence (not having sex); not injecting drugs or sharing needles; and for pregnant women, inquiring about treatments during pregnancy. Practicing safer sex through the use of latex condoms or polyurethane condoms will help reduce the spread of HIV. Use a new condom every time and a water-based lubricant for vaginal and anal sex.

Remember...

- Using oil products such as petroleum jelly or body lotion with latex condoms can cause the condom to break.
- Condoms should never be reused.
- If you inject drugs, do not share your equipment and only use needles and syringes that are new and have been sterilized.

Testing:

HIV testing is widely available. Most test centers are able to provide HIV rapid testing, which gives preliminary results in 20 minutes. These centers provide counseling to handle your concerns, answer questions and assist with referrals to HIV Health Care Providers. To find out where you to be tested for free, call the Delaware HELPLINE at 4-1-1 or 1-800-560-3372.

MEDICAL INFORMATION

A. MEDICAL APPOINTMENTS AND LABORATORY (LAB) TESTING

Introduction:

An important part of your HIV health care involves regular visits with your HIV Health Care Provider (HCP) for examination and laboratory (lab) tests. The lab tests are used as a part of your treatment plan to help monitor your HIV progression and to provide information to help you and your HCP make decisions about your treatment regimen—whether you should start, stop or change medication treatments. A commitment to medical appointments and regular lab work is an important way to take charge of your health.

Information on understanding lab results is summarized below. More detailed information can be found on The AIDS InfoNet at www.aidsinfonet.org. InfoNet provides treatment information in the form of single-topic Fact Sheets that are frequently updated. (Click on “Fact Sheet Categories” on InfoNet’s Home page for a listing of all information categories. Then click on the category “Laboratory Tests” for a complete listing of all lab test Fact Sheets.) The Fact Sheets currently are presented in five languages: English, Spanish, Russian, Bahasa Indonesian, and Nepali. Through collaborative agreements with AIDS service organizations in various countries, InfoNet is expanding the range of languages in which its materials are offered. Always talk with your healthcare provider about your lab results.

The Basics:

There are several different types of lab tests that can be used to monitor HIV and general health status. Depending on your health and whether you are on medication, your HCP will determine how often these tests are done. It is important when you are first diagnosed or when you start your first treatment regimen to get your lab work done to provide a baseline for future comparisons.

Viral Load Test:

The viral load test measures the amount of HIV virus in your blood. The best viral load test result is “undetectable.” This does not mean that there is no virus in your blood. It just means that there is not enough for the test to find and count. For detailed information on the viral load test, talk with your HCP and see InfoNet Fact Sheet Number 125.

CD4 Cell Test:

CD4 cell test measures how many CD4 cells (also called T cells) are in your body. CD4 cells are a part of your immune system, which is responsible for fighting infections. The CD4 cells are directly targeted by HIV. The CD4 cell count is a key measure of the health of the immune system. The lower the count, the greater the damage HIV has done. Anyone who has less than 200 CD4 cells, or a CD4 percentage less than 14%, is considered to have AIDS, according to the US Centers for Disease Control. CD4 counts are also used to indicate when to start certain types of drug therapy. For detailed information on the CD4 cell test, talk with your HCP and see InfoNet Fact Sheet Number 124.

HIV Resistance Testing:

HIV is “resistant” to a medication if it keeps multiplying rapidly while you are taking the medication. Changes (mutations) in the virus cause resistance. HIV usually becomes resistant when it is not totally controlled by medication(s) someone is taking. However, more people are getting infected with HIV that is already resistant to one or more antiretroviral (ARV) medication(s). One of the primary reasons for the development of resistance is not taking ARVs as prescribed. There are several types of resistance tests. Your HCP will determine which type is needed, if at all. For detailed information on HIV resistance testing, talk with your HCP and see InfoNet Fact Sheet Number 126.

Other Lab Tests:

There are other lab tests used to monitor your health status, including: Complete Blood Count or CBC (Fact Sheet Number 121), Chemistry Panel (Fact Sheet Number 122), Lipids—Blood Sugar and Fats (Fact Sheet Number 123). Talk with your HCP about these tests, as well.

Community Involvement Resources

DELAWARE HIV PLANNING COUNCIL

The Delaware HIV Planning Council was created to complete the tasks involved in community planning. Community planning is a process that determines the needs of people living with, or at risk of, HIV infection. It then examines services available within the community and sets priorities based on these findings. Membership is open to anyone.

The Planning Council generally meets five (5) times a year in Dover. If you are interested in joining the Delaware HIV Planning Council or would like more information, call 302-654-5471 or 1-800-485-2524.

COMMUNITY PROGRAM PATIENT ADVISORY GROUP

Your voice in health care!

The Patient Advisory Group is open to all clients of the Christiana Care Health System (CCHS) Community Program. Patient Advisory Group members talk about health care issues that are important to them and share ideas about how patient care services could be improved.

In New Castle County, members must receive care with the Community Program at either the Wilmington Hospital Annex or a Wellness Program at Porter Center, Beautiful Gate, or Lancaster Community Wellness/Brandywine Counseling. The group meets at the Wilmington Hospital Annex on the 3rd Wednesday, every other month, from 5:30 pm–7 pm. Dinner is provided. For more information or to sign up, call 302-255-1333.

In Kent County, members must receive care at the CCHS Kent Wellness Clinic. The group meets every other month, from 5:30 pm–7 pm, with dates set at each meeting. Dinner is provided. Call 302-653-1900 to sign up or for more information.

In Sussex County, members must receive care at the CCHS Georgetown Wellness Clinic. Members generally hold lunch meetings, with dates set at each meeting. Call 302-933-3420 to sign up or for more information.
